HOOSIER Kitchen Cabinet Gold Medal Sale

The Famous Roll Door
"Hoosier Beauty"

Another big gathering of home folks today to see the new Hoosier Kitchen Cabinets demonstrated as thousands of people saw them at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco where Hoosier won the Gold Medal. Bring your friends and neighbors tomorrow, as many ladies did Saturday. See how a million modern housewives do their kitchen work in half the time it takes most women. See the many exclusive features that have made the Hoosier outsell any other five makes of kitchen cabinets combined.

No Other Cabinet Has These Points of Superiority

1. See the Shaker Flour Sifter. Sifts flour three times as fast as rotary sifters. Makes it fluffy and light. Can't wear out. Avoids grit or broken wire.
2. See the Revolving Spice Castor. It puts the spices you need at your finger tips. No danger of knocking over any or spilling them.
3. See the Hoosier Double-Acting Sugar Bin. Holds three times the sugar most bins contain. So you can buy in economical quantities. The only sugar bin from which it is easy to take sugar out of the bottom.
4. See the Full View Roll Doors, exposed to view, sanitary, cleanable, instantly removable.

See the 40 Ways That Hoosier Saves You Labor

How it saves you miles of walking to and fro about your kitchen to collect and put away supplies each meal. How it lets you sit down comfortably at your work with 400 articles all handily arranged at your fingers' ends. How it leaves your kitchen tidy and gives you hours of freedom for other things.

See the new models — the low prices and the easy terms we are offering on every Hoosier cabinet in this sale.

You will learn more about the modern ways of housekeeping in ten minutes than you could learn by reading the magazines for a year. Don't miss this big treat that so many people saw at the San Francisco Fair. Come tomorrow without fail.

WHERE THE PROFIT IS.

A Little Extra Effort Adds "Velvet" After Expenses Are Paid.

Did you ever stop to think that if a crop only pays expenses, the grower is actually losing money? Does it seem far-fetched to say that the loss of an opportunity to make money is the same as the loss of the money itself? That is really what occurs in most cases where a crop only pays expenses. Nearly always, just a little more effort, or a slight difference in methods would add a little more to the result produced, and this addition would be all profit.

The profit all comes after the expenses are paid, and it is right there that extra effort pays. If the man with a neglected orchard sells just enough fruit to pay for the use of the land and what little labor he expends upon it, and that is usually about what such orchards produce, then every extra bushel he can add to the production, and every dollar of added quality is pure gain. You cannot make a profit until the expenses are paid, but every cent of increase after that point is reached is "velvet."

The real facts are that the only chance for a profit lies in the extra effort, which is usually not put forth. We work hard "to make ends meet," but the thing to do is make the ends pass, not meet. Every fellow who manages to live, and that includes most of us, contrives to "make ends meet," but the man who accumulates a surplus is the fellow who goes a little farther. Don't be content to exist—even a worm exists. The man who is content to make a living never makes more.

War Horses We Have Sold.

Nearly 750,000 horses and mules have been purchased in the United States for foreign account since Sept. 1, 1914. While this number is but a small percentage of America's horse and mule stock, the business has nevertheless been a tremendous one. Twenty-two horses make up an average freight or express load. That means that 34,000 carloads have been shipped from the country to the coast, taking no account of short local shipments. These horses have traveled no less than an average of 1,000 miles each. The 34,000 cars earned for the railroad and express companies $5,000,000.

It was a lucky horse that voyaged from farm to steamboat in less than 15 days. Six million dollars for food in stables, markets, stockyards and concentration camps is a low estimate of the cost. Turned out in pens such as are used at our Chicago stockyards, the horses would require for comfortable housing 37,500 pens. With the necessary alleys, feed barns, hay sheds, and railroad facilities, these pens would cover a ground floor area a mile in width by 2 miles in length—a space twice as large as the Union Stock Yard of Chicago, which accommodates 506,000 animals of different sizes.

Placed side by side in one row of comfortable single stalls the war horses would stretch from Chicago's city limits to Grand Island, Neb. In marching order, close formation, the 300,000 cavalry and 2,500 full batteries of 180 horses each, would reach from Chicago to Boston.

We have left 40 times as many horses as have gone, but we should remember that those which have gone are practically all of the best of three types. There will be a brilliant market for these three types for several years after the European conflict is over, and there will be time enough in which to get a colt well started long before that devoutly wished-for peace comes into sight.—G. E. Wentworth in the Breeders' Gazette.

How to Attract the Birds.

In the Woman's Home Companion Franz Biehler gives direction as to building houses that birds will nest in and how to secure a garden that birds will come to.

"A good many species, to be sure, build their own nests to suit themselves. They choose their own quarters, and will have nothing to do with all those cute little houses and nesting boxes which we put up so insinuatingly about the garden—always in places where we can watch what is going on! But the Martins and the swallows, the wrens and the bluebirds, the chickadees, and even the flickers and the screech owls can sometimes be enticed to adopt our human-made tenements. Indeed, some of them, like the martins, seem to be peculiarly happy with the provisions which we offer. There is no end of fun making these bird houses. They should always have a projecting roof to keep out the rain, and the front door should be high off the floor."

Mr. Biehler also reminds all bird lovers that water is an essential to any bird garden and tells how it should be used to the best advantage.

Minneapolis, which is proud because it has just absorbed its first full carload of asparagus announces that such shipment amounts to just 1,000 boxes, 25 pounds to the box.

Labor is well organized in Greece. Placed side by side in one row of, but poorly paid.
